B.Sc. DEGREE PROGRAMME IN CRIMINOLOGY AND CRIMINAL JUSTICE SCIENCE

(with effect from the academic year 2023 – 2024)

1. PREAMBLE

Criminology is the scientific study of crime and criminality. It includes within its scope, the processes of making laws, of breaking laws and of reacting toward the breaking of laws. Further, the objective of criminology is also the development of a body of general and verified principles and of other types of knowledge regarding the process of law, crime and treatment of offenders. The advent of technology has led to a paradigm shift in the scope of Criminology as a subject, studying traditional forms of crime to new and emerging forms of crime such as cybercrime, environmental crime, economic crime and so on. As part of the efforts to improve the employability of Criminology graduates, the present curriculum of the undergraduate programme in Criminology provides for a holistic learning approach, that includes learning through lectures, tutorials and practicum.

Criminology by itself is an interdisciplinary subject hence it cannot be taught as a standalone branch of knowledge. Studying crime and criminal behaviour is complemented by learning related subjects such as sociology, psychology, economics, statistics, forensic science etc. Further, subjects such as environmental crime, crime and media and society and social problems are generic and interdisciplinary in nature. Hence, the present curriculum offers these subjects as Interdisciplinary Electives to students of other disciplines. Teaching a wide range of subjects in the undergraduate programme, will not only help the graduates of Criminology have a broader perspective but will also give them the added advantage in their employability prospects.
